

Royal Artillery Hunt

Cookie Policy

Privacy & Website Experience

Last updated: 24 October 2026

1. Introduction

The Royal Artillery Hunt respects the privacy of everyone who visits our website. Like many websites, www.royalartilleryhunt.co.uk uses cookies and similar technologies to support the operation, security and functionality of the site.

This Cookie Policy explains what cookies are, how they may be used and the choices available to visitors. For further information about how we handle personal information, please refer to our Privacy Notice.

2. What Are Cookies?

Cookies are small text files placed on your computer, tablet or mobile device when you visit a website. They allow a website to recognise your device, remember certain preferences and provide essential functions.

Some cookies are temporary and disappear when you close your browser, whilst others remain on your device for a specified period.

3. How Our Website Uses Cookies

The Royal Artillery Hunt website is hosted and operated using Wix, which provides website hosting, security and associated technical services. Depending on the features enabled on our website, cookies may be used for the following purposes:

3.1 Essential Cookies

These support the basic operation and security of the website. They may be necessary to provide services requested by visitors, maintain website stability and protect against unauthorised activity. Strictly necessary cookies do not require consent.

3.2 Functional Cookies

These may help remember visitor preferences or provide additional website features. Where required by law, such cookies will only be used with the appropriate consent.

3.3 Analytics Cookies

These may help us understand how visitors use the website, such as which pages are visited and how the site performs. Any analytics technologies used will be subject to the applicable consent or other legal requirements.

3.4 Marketing Cookies

If marketing or advertising technologies are introduced, visitors will be informed and their consent obtained where required before these technologies are used.

4. Third-Party Services

Our website may include services provided by third parties, including Wix and links to social media platforms such as Facebook and Instagram. Where third-party services place cookies or use similar technologies through our website, these will be identified and managed in accordance with applicable legal requirements.

Following a link to an external website may result in cookies being used by that website under its own policies.

5. Managing Your Cookie Preferences

Visitors can manage their cookie preferences through the cookie consent controls provided on our website, where available. You may choose whether to allow optional cookies, and you can change or withdraw your consent at any time. Strictly necessary cookies may remain active because they are required for essential website functions.

You can also manage or delete cookies through your browser settings. Please note that disabling certain cookies may affect the operation of some website features.

6. Your Privacy

Where information collected through cookies constitutes personal data, it will be handled in accordance with applicable UK data protection legislation. Further information about how we collect, use and protect personal information is available in our Privacy Notice.

7. Changes to This Policy

We may update this Cookie Policy from time to time to reflect changes in website functionality, the cookies used or applicable legal requirements. Any changes will be published on this page, together with the date of the latest revision.

8. Contact Us

If you have any questions about this Cookie Policy or how the Royal Artillery Hunt uses cookies, please contact:

The Hunt Secretary
Royal Artillery Hunt
New Ward Road
Bulford, Salisbury
SP4 9SJ

Email: secretary@royalartilleryhunt.co.uk

Website: www.royalartilleryhunt.co.uk